

Three Forms of AI in the Information Cycle feedback — the loop that democratic resilience depends on closing

Generative and ranking systems shape citizens' own information use; administrative and advisory AI shapes how institutions act on what they receive.